

Proof of Language Proficiency for foreign applicants

International applicants from non-German speaking countries as well as Germans whose native language is not German must provide proof that they have the German language skills required for admission to the degree programme. Depending on the degree programme, the level B1, B2 or C1 CEFR (Common European Framework of References for Languages) must be proven.

For the programme Excellence in Performance, the level B2 must be proven. The accepted languages are German and English (level B2). Information on English language certificates can be found at the end of the document.

For Master programmes with a performance profile and Meisterklasse (Postgraduate Continuing Studies), no language proof is needed, but B2 is desirable (exceptions: Master Programme “Opera Performance” and Master Programme “Choral Conducting”: level B2).

Only the following certificates are accepted:
